
user login - load application automatically

Posted by ancarte - 2005/11/07 16:22

It would be a good idea if a user does not have to click on the application after he has logged on to the server.

After login, if there is only application published, the application should load automatically

=====

Re: user login - load application automatically

Posted by gene - 2005/12/10 12:52

I believe this is done using a client instead of a browser. Check the Guide on "Running the Windows Client" for examples on how to do this.

=====