
Client version

Posted by Piotr Zborowski - 2008/05/14 22:57

Is there any way to find out what version of Go-Global Windows Client is being used on client machine? Maybe something like clientcomputername variable? I would like to always have most recent version of Go-Global client on clients' machines, but our users are not installing every update.

Piotr,

On the client, go to the Help -> About screen.

On the server... there is currently no way to view the Client version but it's been added as a feature request for the next major version.
