
Doubt regarding GoGlobal CLIENT on HPUX machine !!

Posted by anjanku - 2003/10/22 15:06

Hi,

I am aware of the following configuration:

GoGlobal Server : HP UX

GoGlobal Client : Windows

Does GoGlobal client has support for HP UX OS ?

Is it possible to open (Client) GUI on a remote machine which is having HPUX 11.0 OS (instead of Windows OS) ?

Thanks,

Anjan

Re: Doubt regarding GoGlobal CLIENT on HPUX machine !!

Posted by troym - 2003/10/22 15:37

Hello Anjan,

We currently have a beta-version of a native X11 client that operates on both UNIX and Linux desktops. It operates essentially at the level of our Java client in terms of features, which means that it lacks multiple-window support, and some of the niceties like clipboard support and file transfer have not been implemented and/or completely tested.

If you would like to obtain a beta copy of this client to see what it can do or how well it works, please contact Erik Tolido and he can get a copy out to you.

Our current plan is to have this client polished and ready for publication with version 3.0, which should be released sometime near the middle of next year.

Troy
